

Playa Del Carmen Travel- The Mexican Sensation

By Playadel

Playa del Carmen Travel is the other favorite place for beach lovers when they go to Mexico. Of course beach destinations like Cancun and Cozumel are quite popular too. But Playa is a slightly quieter beach resort town than the crazy party place that Cancun is reputed to be. Located in the heart of the Mayan Riviera, Playa offers a very relaxing atmosphere, some lovely hotels and lodgings and interestingly enough a distinct European flavor.

To get into Playa one can come by road or air. If you come by air, then the closest airport is the Cancun International Airport which lies about 70 kilometers to the north. Rental cars and private transfers are also available which are convenient and comfortable. In case you are on a budget then one can also take a bus for Playa from the airport. This journey will cost less than $10 so its a great option for backpackers.

There are loads of staying options in Playa. In fact most people who come here choose their place of lodging depending on whether they wish to be closer to the beach or the center of town. There are many budgets to boutique to luxury hotels which are near the beach. There are also several condo complexes which can be taken on in case the stay is of a longer duration. Of course a lot of people prefer to stay in the heart of town and here too there are several reasonably priced options to stay.

During the day the most popular thing in Playa del Carmen Travel to do is relax at the beach. You can hire a canopy bed and spend the entire day catching some rays and enjoying the ocean and of course the view. After the sun goes down, the action shifts to the area known as 5th avenue. This place has some of the best watering holes in the area along with some great restaurants serving delicious local and international cuisines.
